GENERAL NEWS GATHERED ON THE RIVER FRONT

The ram-schooner Grace Bennett, which was in collision with the United States army tug Lieut. Alonzo Cushing early in the week, is lying at the foot of 10th street having repairs made to her headgear, which was damaged when she struck the army tug. A new samson post is being put in position, and repairs made to the jibboom. The vessel will be ready to leave here for Newburn, N. C., where she is to load lumber for this city, early in this week. Yesterday a board of officers from Fort Washington, to which post the Cushing is attached, were in the city looking the Bennett over and investigating the causes of the accident. It is stated that a report has been made to the United States steamboat inspectors in charge of this district, and that an official investigation will be made to fix the responsibility for the two vessels coming together.

Arrived: Schooner William Cunningham, pine lumber from a river point; schooner William H. McGuire, from Nomin, laden with locust logs for Alexandria; tug Marion Cameron, with a tow of loaded scows from Piscataway creek; schooner Clara Leonard, from the lower river with cord wood. Sailed: Scow Daniel, for Marthas Point to load wood back to this city; schooner Leland Carter and Mary and Rebecca, light for Potomac oyster beds to load back to this city; schooner Farmer's Friend, light, for a Virginia port to load lumber for dealers here; schooner J. P. Robinson, for Upper Machodoc creek to load. Memoranda: Schooner B. H. Walker has been chartered to load lumber at Jacksonville, Fla., for this city; barges Paumotky, John I. Brady, S. M. Prevost and James T. Easton have arrived light at Baltimore from this city; schooner John McGinnis has been chartered to load lumber on the Rappahannock river for this port; schooners Samuel Wood, Oakland and Ferri are loading cord wood at points on the lower Potomac for the dealers here. The twin-screw power launch Louise K., belonging to Mr. S. J. Keubel of this city, is at Bennett's boatyard to be hauled out on the small marine railway and to be for under shelter for the winter. While laid up a number of changes in the interior arrangements of the launch will be made. The little tug Dixie, belonging to Capt. Robinson of Georgetown, which has been hauled out there for several days to undergo some necessary repairs and to have a new rudder put on, has been put overboard. She is in service as tender to the outfit employed in placing the sewer pipes in position for the big sewer outlet a short distance above the naval magazine. The barge Lily of the West is lying at the wharf at Fort Washington unloading a cargo of lumber for use in some work to be done at the fort.

Long Session of Juvenile Court.

The session of the Juvenile Court Friday, which was in progress until nearly 6 o'clock, was the busiest since its establishment July 1 last. Twenty-six defendants were arraigned on various charges. There were ten defendants in one case charged with disorderly assembly around the Academy Theater. Acting on complaints of storekeepers in the vicinity and the authorities of the theater, the police of the first precinct, headed by Sergeant Lee and Policeman Mellen, swooped down on the boys Thursday evening shortly after 8 o'clock and arrested Walter Douglas, James Berry, Philip Johnson, Chester Ellis, Julius Brooks, Oliver Woods, Edward Berry, Leslie Frey, Holly Harper and Lloyd Patterson, all colored.

Not one of the defendants admitted that he was in the habit of staying around the entrances to the theater, and each one offered an excuse for being there Thursday night. Some were selling papers, two went there "to see what was happening" and were also taken in, and another was on an errand for his mother down town. Judge Delacy ordered the boys to be put on probation for three months, instructed them to stay away from the theater and each took the pledge. Herbert Ainsley, 137 L street, was charged with shooting Frank J. Rezac, 1013 8th street, in the forehead with an air rifle. "Rezac is a foreign name, isn't it?" Judge Delacy asked. "Were you born in this country?" "No, sir; I was born in Baltimore," the boy replied.
